Program Description

A community health and nutrition navigator is a frontline public health worker who, as a trusted member of the community, serves as a liaison to connect people to medical providers and community resources for health and nutrition needs.

Career Outlook

The world of healthcare today is complex and there is a need for frontline health workers with expertise and experience in assisting individuals and communities to navigate the healthcare system and encourage self-care advocacy.

Program Learning Outcomes

- Provide information and refer patients, based on the identified barriers and needs, to appropriate resources and services available to the patient.
- Communicate effectively with the healthcare team, diverse patient populations and their families to achieve common health and nutrition goals.
- Apply foundational health and nutrition knowledge to ensure safe, competent, and effective services.
